1. Between 20 June and 1 July 1951, only one infantry Kommando was in the quarters of the VPD in Brandenburg-Hohenstuecken. All other components of the VPD were at a summer training camp which, according to rumors, was located near the Altengrabow troop training grounds. VP Inspektour Wagner, (fnu), was identified as the commanding officer of the VPD.

2. At the end of June, about 1,000 German police were seen in a tent camp on Trien Lake near Rhinsmuehlen (N 53/Z 26). They were said to belong to the VP unit from Brandenburg-Hohenstuecken. At the time of observation, the tents in the camp were being replaced by low wooden barracks, and a water main was under construction. **

3. For several days at the end of June, three T-34 tanks were seen at the camp on Trion Lake. They were operated by Soviet soldiers and participated in the field training of German police. Twenty-six Soviet instructors wearing VP uniforms with rank insignia of VP Kommissar and Oberkommissar recently arrived at the police training camp.

Comment: A VP training camp, probably identical with this one, [redacted] The name of the adjacent lake on that report as "Trint" rather than "Trien". The correct name cannot be established by any available reference material.

 Comment. A rotation of components of VPD 2511 to a summer camp is in accordance with information on other VPDs and appears credible. The training camp of the VPD is believed to be located at Ehinemenien, as stated in paragraph 2 of the present report, rather than at the Aitengrabow troop training grounds where Soviet artillery troops practice but where no police have been observed to date.
